

great the candidate were Henry Clow, the veteran Wall Street banker, whose son-in-law, Herbert Parsons, is mentioned as campaign manager; Robert Lynn Cox, Chairman of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, who was a member of the Armstrong legislative committee that investigated insurance companies with Mr. Hughes as counsel; former Congressman William H. Douglas, an old friend from Delhi Academy who with another boyhood friend, John J. Waters, presented forty-eight four-leaf clovers, one for each State.

Judges, lawyers and Republican politicians came in numbers all day to offer congratulations to the candidate.

The Roosevelt Republican League, of which George von Lengerke Meyer was Chairman, is preparing to come out for Hughes. Most of its leading members have already declared their support as individuals.

STRAUS CALLS ON PROGRESSIVES TO SUPPORT HUGHES.

Oscar Straus, Chairman of the Public Service Commission, who was also Chairman of the New York State delegation to the Progressive National Convention, called upon all Progressives to support Mr. Hughes. He sent from Cleveland to-day the following telegram to the Republican candidate:

"In recognition of your splendid public record and relying upon your unflinching stand for a complete and unalloyed Americanism, with a single devotion to the highest welfare of all our people and to the ideals of social justice that have so endeared to us the visioned leadership of Theodore Roosevelt, every genuine Progressive should, in my judgment, give you his enthusiastic support. You will certainly have mine."

Merrill E. Gates, who was Chairman of the Westchester County Progressive Committee, called to volunteer his support. "I am ready to take off my coat and pitch in for Mr. Hughes," he said.

Mr. Straus followed up his telegram by appearing at headquarters and was closeted with the candidate for an hour. During the conference plans were made to get the Bull Moose into line. Henry B. Joy, a Detroit automobile manufacturer and leader of the Roosevelt Republican League, led the procession of Roosevelt Republicans back to the fold.

ROOT'S FOLLOWERS FALL INTO HUGHES LINE.

The Root forces fell in line when a delegation headed by John W. Dwight, Root's campaign manager, and President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia, who made the nominating speech for Root at the convention, called to tell Mr. Hughes that he could depend upon their unswerving support. Charles H. Sherrill, organizer of the Big Preparedness Parade, offered his services as an organizer of demonstrations. Senator George H. Hughes, familiar with the investigation that has been under way in New York for several months. Two women tried to see Mr. Hughes or to get from him an expression of opinion regarding suffragism. They were Miss Lucy Burns of Washington and Mrs. Charles A. Beard, wife of a Columbia professor. In answer to numerous notes word was sent that Mr. Hughes was too busy to see the ladies, and that he would not discuss politics at this time.

Mr. Hughes went for a drive through the park and then to lunch with William R. Wilcox and Travis H. Whitney. He announced that it would be late in the afternoon before his return to headquarters.

WIFE WHO PLOTTED HUSBAND'S MURDER IS STATE WITNESS

Mrs. George Will Testify Against Former Suitor Who, She Says, Advised Crime.

(Special to The Evening World.)

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 13.—It developed to-day, when Vito Raimondo of Ardley was placed on trial before Justice Moroscauer and a jury in the Supreme Court at White Plains for murder, that his main accuser will be Mrs. Antonietta George. She says he instigated and urged her to bring about the murder of her husband, Gregorio George, at Dobbs Ferry, Jan. 15 last.

Several days ago Mrs. George was sentenced to life imprisonment by Justice Moroscauer for being in the plot which brought about the slaying of her husband.

Mrs. Mary Figlio, sister-in-law of Mrs. George, has testified that Mrs. George came to her and asked her to get two men to kill her husband, and Kittle McCormick of Hoboken, who was sentenced to Auburn Prison for life yesterday, agreed to get two gunmen for $500. Kittle admits she was to get $50 for the part she played.

All this morning was taken up in selecting the jury. Following the trial of Raimondo, Adolph Riso, eighteen years old, friend of Kittle McCormick, who failed to participate in the murder because his mother died and he remained at the McCormick home, will go to trial. He will probably enter a plea of guilty of manslaughter.

William McNamara, nineteen years old, with a man named "Dutch," stabbed George to death when he was led to a lonely spot by his sister-in-law, Mary Figlio, was taken to the death house in Sing Sing Prison to-day by Sheriff Weisenburger. McNamara was in tears.

BRITISH OPEN UP NEW OFFENSIVE ON SOUTH OF YPRES.

BERLIN, June 13 (via London).—A further advance on the Verdun front, near Fort Douaumont, was announced to-day by the War Office.

British troops have begun a movement against German positions south-east of Ypres.

The statement follows: "Local British attacks against a section of our new positions on the heights southeast of Ypres have been in progress since this morning. On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) we pushed further forward our lines on both sides of the ridge extending to the southwest from Fort Douaumont."

thing that might by chance come into competition with it. And I for my part believe that the American test is a spiritual test.

"If a man has to make excuses for what he has done as an American, I doubt his Americanism. He ought to know at every step of his action that the motive that lies behind what he does is a motive which no American need be ashamed of for a moment."

"Now, we ought to put this test to every man we know. We ought to let it be known that nobody who does not put America first can consort with us. But we ought to set them the example by thinking American thoughts, by entertaining American purposes, and those thoughts and purposes will stand the test of example anywhere in the world, for they are intended for the betterment of mankind."

"You know that we are already spiritual partners with both continents of this hemisphere and that America means something which is bigger even than the United States, and that we stand here with the glorious power of this country ready to swing it out into the field of action whenever liberty and independence and political integrity are threatened anywhere in the Western Hemisphere."

"I am an American, but I do not believe that any of us loves a blustering nationality, a nationality with a chip on its shoulder, a nationality with its elbows out and its swagger on. We love that quiet, self-respecting, unconquerable spirit which does not strike until it is necessary to strike and then strikes to conquer. Never since I was a youngster have I been afraid of the noisy man. I have always been afraid of the still man. I have always been afraid of the quiet man. I had a classmate at college who was most dangerous when he was most affable. When he was maddest he seemed to have the sweetest temper in the world. He would approach you with a most ingratiating smile and then you knew that every red corpuscle in his blood was up and shouting. If you work things off in your elbows you do not work them off in your minds, you do not work them off in your purposes. So my conception of America is a conception of infinite dignity along with quiet, unquestionable power."

DECLARES THERE NEED BE NO FEAR OF MILITARISM.

"You know that the chief thing that is holding many people back from enthusiasm for what is called preparedness is the fear of militarism. I want men about militarism. You're not a militarist because you are military. Militarism does not consist in the existence of an army, nor even in the existence of a very great army. Militarism is a spirit. The purpose of militarism is to use arms for aggression. The spirit of militarism is the opposite of the civilian spirit—the citizen spirit."

"In a country where militarism prevails the military man looks down upon the civilian, regards him as inferior, thinks of him as intended for the military man's support and use, and just so long as America is America that spirit and point of view is impossible with us. There is as yet in this country, so far as I can discover, no taint of the spirit of militarism."

"You know that one thing in which our forefathers took pride was this, that the civil power is superior to the military power in the United States."

"We have drawn our people from all parts of the world, and we have been somewhat disturbed recently because some of those—though I believe a very small number—whom we have drawn into our citizenship have not taken into their hearts the spirit of America and have loved other countries more than they loved the country of their adoption."

AMERICANISM CONSISTS IN PUTTING OUR PRINCIPLES FIRST.

"We have talked a great deal about Americanism. It ought to be a matter of pride with us to know what Americanism really consists in."

"Americanism consists in utterly believing in the principles of America and putting them first as above any-

"If a man has to make excuses for what he has done as an American, I doubt his Americanism. He ought to know at every step of his action that the motive that lies behind what he does is a motive which no American need be ashamed of for a moment."

"Now, we ought to put this test to every man we know. We ought to let it be known that nobody who does not put America first can consort with us. "You know that we are already spiritual partners with both continents of this hemisphere and that America means something which is bigger even than the United States, and that we stand here with the glorious power of this country ready to swing it out into the field of action whenever liberty and independence and political integrity are threatened anywhere in the Western Hemisphere."

"I am an American, but I do not believe that any of us loves a blustering nationality, a nationality with a chip on its shoulder, a nationality with its elbows out and its swagger on. OFFICIAL GREETING FOR PRESIDENT AND HIS WIFE.

President Wilson came ashore from the Mayflower—which had lain off West Point all night—at 9:30 o'clock A. M. He was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and Col. W. W. Hart, his military aide. As he put off from the yacht in his large a salute of twenty-one guns was fired and the colored cavalry detachment on duty at the Point drawn up on the pier presented sabres and two buglers blew a fanfare.

He was met at the pier by Major Gen. Hugh L. Scott, Chief of Staff; Major Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, Assistant Chief of Staff, who had a son in the graduating class; and Col. C. P. Townsley, Superintendent of the Academy, and his staff. Automobiles lined the pier. The President and Mrs. Wilson, with Gen. Scott and Col. Townsley, had entered one. The caviary wheeled ahead and went at a brisk pace up the winding road to the Academy plateau, where, along the western edge of the parade ground, the cadet battalion was drawn up. The band broke into the "Star Spangled Banner" as the salute of twenty-one guns again thundered out.

The President went first to Supt. Townsley's residence while the cadet battalion was marched out upon the parade grounds, surrounded by officers and by a number of "old grads" who wore red ribbons with their class numerals upon them, some of them being back to 1890. The President watched the corps manoeuvres and was highly impressed by the military procession of the battalion.

When the corps had been drawn up in a line which extended the entire length of the parade grounds the band swung into a lively march as the President and his party paraded down the front. With the termination of inspection the corps was sent double quick about the parade grounds and then off to barracks, where the graduating class left its arms for the last time.

The other classes retained theirs and acted as a guard of honor to escort the men of 1916 to their front seats at the base of the battle monument and then take up their places on stools in the rear. Then the President came and took his seat under the flag canopy below the monument. There was a prayer by Academy Chaplain Rev. H. Silver, and after his address, President Wilson presented diplomas to the graduates.

The honor man of the class of 125 was John Howard Wells of Texas. When Robert Reese Neyland Jr., of Texas, the pitcher, came up for his sheepskin the entire corps thundered out a greeting. All the members of the baseball and football teams were as lustily cheered. Then the corps sang "Alma Mater." There was a benediction by the Rev. Father J. B. Conroy, and the ceremony was at a close.

President and Mrs. Wilson entered a motor car and were taken for a trip about the post, returning to Supt. Townsley's for luncheon. The President and his party left West Point at 3:18 by special West Shore train.
